Hold Alleged Madison Bandit Ring Leader

Prisoner Quizzed By Police

Police Believe Youth Involved In 30 Robberies And Holdups

A man said to be the "brains" of the gang of Dane county bandits who were sentenced to five years at Green Bay reformatory Feb. 21 by Judge O. A. Stolen after confessing to complicity in more than 30 robberies and holdups, is being questioned by police today.

The man stubbornly refuses to admit complicity in the band's brief reign of terror.

Charges of stealing an automobile from Madison last August and driving it to California are also denied by the man.

Arrested by police on another charge Tuesday night, the man was taken into Superior court yesterday and entered a plea of not guilty. He was remanded to the sheriff in default of $500 bail.

Questioning by police early yesterday morning before his arraignment and repeated cross-examination late this afternoon had failed to shake the man's story of innocence in the robberies.

The man now held as the "brains" of the band of gangsters, dropped from sight the middle of February, at the time the police net began to tighten on the gang's members, police say. He returned a few days ago, and his arrest followed.

An alibi that he was in Minneapolis, the Dakotas, the state of Oregon, California, and Wyoming are advanced by the young man. Police believe they have information which will shake his story.

Three confessed members of the band, Hubert Buscher, 20; Willis Harbort, 20; and Stuart Halberstam, 20, were sentenced to five years at Waupun by Judge O. A. Stolen Feb. 21.

Women Hotel Workers Win Battle; House Passes Killian Bill 61 to 27

Limit Hours Of Labor To 10 A Day; 8 For Night Shift

The assembly, by a vote of 61 to 27, today ordered the passage of the Killian bill regulating the hours of work for women in hotels.

Under the bill women working in hotels may not work longer than ten hours a day or 55 hours per week for day labor and eight hours a night and 48 hours a week for night labor. Day labor was defined as between the hours of six in the morning and eight at night.

The assembly permitted F. M. Wilcox, industrial commissioner, to speak on the bill and James Drouth, representing the hotel keepers of the state, to speak against the proposed measure.

Mr. Wilcox said that the regulation was necessary and that many complaints had been received by the commission regarding the hours women were forced to work in many hotels. Mr. Drouth declared the hotel keepers did not want to work their employees more than 55 hours per week but that at times conditions necessitated it in order to accommodate the public.

Gunman Didn't Scare Her!

Gussie Halberg, seventeen-year-old Cleveland bookkeeper, was snatched and robbed on busy Euclid avenue by a pair of gunmen. But she wasn't scared, that is not too scared to note every detail of her assailants' appearance. In court she identified Anthony O'Callahan as one of the thugs and it netted O'Callahan just twenty years in Ohio's bastille in Columbus.

English Zone Now Isolated

French Declare Movement Is Sanctioned By Treaty Of Versailles

PARIS — French troops have occupied eight German towns east of Cologne, isolating the British zone of military occupation on the Rhine.

The towns occupied are Troisdorf, Operath, Wupperfurth, Remscheid, Kronenburg, Gräfrath, Mettmann and Ortschaften. This is not occupation of additional German territory, but a regrouping of French forces in the Cologne-Bridgehead position.

French officials said that occupation of the towns in question was permissible under the Versailles treaty and that the movement was merely carried out to facilitate the collection of customs.

La Follette Measure Is Passed

Huber Resolution Passed In Senate, Wins Big Vote In The Assembly

The senate today killed a resolution introduced by Sen. Henry Rothe, Fennimore, commending Sen. La Follette on "his good sense and a fine spirit of toleration," for asking Sen. Henry Huber to withdraw his original resolution providing for a bonfire to destroy the round robin signed by university professors condemning La Follette.

This resolution was taken as a personal insult by Sen. Huber, who accused Sen. Rothe, a veteran legislator, of bad faith in introducing it.

Sen. Rothe vigorously defended Sen. Rothe and scored the author of the resolution which originally would have provided for a bonfire to burn up the document in the historical library. The proposal was killed, Senator Rothe being the only senator to vote for it.

$22,000,000 Firm On Edge Of Bankruptcy

L. R. Steel, Inc., Industries Placed In Hands Of Receivers

(By The Associated Press)
BUFFALO — Receivers were appointed in federal court today for the L. R. Steel enterprises, in which the public has invested about $22,000,000.

L. R. Steel, the promoter, severed his connection with the companies on Jan. 27, and since then direction has been in the hands of a board of control. The receivers were appointed on a suit of equity brought to conserve the assets of the various corporations.

The petitioner is the National Toy and Tinsel Manufacturing Co., of Manitowoc, Wis.

The Parent Steel company was organized in 1919 by Leonard R. Steel, who had been identified with chain store companies. It later became known as L. R. Steel, Inc., and subsidiaries were formed to sell toys, to administer the real estate controlled by the various enterprises and for many other purposes.

Chief among the subsidiaries was the L. R. Steel service corporation which handled the sale of stock in all the steel concerns in which the public were invited to invest.

Elaborate offices were opened in the larger cities of the U. S. and Canada and a large selling force was engaged to dispose of stock. Fifty thousand persons, it is stated, put more than $20,000,000 into the common and preferred stock. Frequent conventions of the steel stock salesmen were held at which Steel was lauded as "a wizard in chain store management" and the force was enticed to greater effort in the disposal of stock in Steel enterprises.

Steel, it was intimated, left his enterprises without a dollar except what was represented in his steel security holdings. His city home previously had been sold and a beautiful country residence where he now lives, was in his wife's name. Mr. Steel's health was shattered by his three years' devotion to the business, it was stated.

The 450 University Of Wisconsin Faculty Members Who During The War Signed A Round Robin Denouncing The Attitude Of Senator Robert M. La Follette Stood Condemned By The Wisconsin Legislature Today As The Assembly Voted 82 To 11 To Concur In The Huber Resolution Adopted By The Senate Yesterday 17 To 12.

A call of the house was ordered today in the assembly during the resolution came up for a vote. This resolution was adopted by the senate yesterday by a vote of 17 to 12.

The La Follette forces in the lower house, even after a motion to indefinitely postpone the resolution was able to muster but ten votes, decided to put everybody on record and the call of the house followed.

The lower house suspended the rules today and agreed to take up immediate consideration of the senate resolution. This measure condemns as "unworthy of men employed in Wisconsin's greatest educational institution" the act of the 450 university faculty members who signed the document denouncing La Follette.

Assemblyman A. E. Matheson, Janesville, moved indefinite postponement of the resolution, after expressing his unwillingness to condemn the acts of the faculty members who as citizens exercised their right to express their opinion on La Follette during the war.

"I do not wish to pass on the records of these men, and in voting for this resolution I would be condemning them," Mr. Matheson said. "I vote against this resolution and move its indefinite postponement as a refusal to pass judgment on acts of these university professors."

Assemblyman Horace H. Hooten, Madison, said that some faculty members who signed the La Follette resolution had told him that they were coerced into the action with threats that if they refused they would lose their positions in the faculty.

Sen. La Follette was defended by Assemblyman Gamper, Fried, Blomberg and J. C. Hanson, all of whom alluded to La Follette's war attitude as a courageous attempt to protect the interests of the common people against politicians and profiteers.

When the motion for indefinite postponement was put, it was lost. Assemblymen Engel, Jung, Laffey, Lawson, Perry, Shearer, Matheson, Summerville, and Vincent voted to kill the proposal.

This action of the Wisconsin legislature is taken by members to be a vindication of Senator La Follette who was himself denounced by the two houses during the early days of the war.

While the resolution confines itself to condemnation of the University of Wisconsin faculty members who signed the document denouncing La Follette, speakers alluded to it as a general vindication by the legislature on the war stand taken by Senator La Follette.

Turnovers Costly

Employers Tell Rotary Club Fair Treatment Checks Labor Losses

"Turn over is expensive," declared L. L. Pidgeon in a paper read by R. N. Nelson before the Rotary club this noon. "Where there is cooperation between employer and employee this turnover can be largely eliminated."

J. C. Ford of the French Battery and Carbon Co., gave a short talk. He quoted from several employees of his company to show that a common interest exists at the factory. He said several reductions in wages had been made since the period of high deflation without causing grumblings of employees.

"Day by day contact with day by day fair treatment will do much to provide that common interest without which no business can succeed," declared Mr. Ford.

John Timmer, contractor, stated that he always tries to treat his employees on an equal basis with him.

"All of my employees and their families call me by my first name," Emil Frautschi stated.

With frozen clothes, the boys hurried to the warmth of their homes. Clifford Mathison, 2102 Kendall ave., one of the passengers, suffered a severe cut above the eye. Hint To U. W. Students; Just Sell Your Blood BALTIMORE Md.—Students at the Johns Hopkins Medical School are paying their expenses with their blood, selling it for transfusion purposes at $50 a transfusion. It is an easy way to make money, according to Dr. John G. Huck, professor of medicine. All the student has to do is to let down, sacrifice a little blood and then collect the $50. But the fly in the ointment is that not all are eligible to be bled. The subject must be perfectly healthy and his blood must measure up to a certain standard.

Bryan Making Atheists By Evolution Stand, Is Charge

(By The Associated Press)
SUPERIOR, Wis.—Bryan is making more atheists by his idea that "you can't be a Christian and a believer in Darwin's theory" than any man since the time of Channing," said C. E. Wade, principal of Superior high school, in an address on evolution before the laymen of the First Unitarian church last night.

"A few years ago certain scientists discovered a species of shark that proved to have descended from a common tree shrew," said Mr. Wade. "Such evolution gave responsible proof that the existence of man is not entirely independent of species of a lower order and even of fish. Recent discoveries disclose positive evidence that as certain muscles of fish fall apart in layers when heated, so do muscles in certain stages of life of the animals. The vast extent of territory from Borneo to the British Isles is the home of that from which we descend. When one of our descendants stepped out of his natural self and said 'this is I,' the existence of man began."

Need Traffic Fund

Sheriff To Appeal To County Board For More Men On Highways

County highway traffic will be practically unregulated again during the season of 1923, unless the county board appropriates money for the maintenance of at least four highway speed patrolmen Sheriff Julius Krug declared today.

With only one speed patrolman, Sheriff Henry Ireland, county highways are virtually unregulated. While Sheriff Krug is anxious to remedy this condition, he is handicapped by lack of appropriations.

Spring Near Apples

Are Pouring To Market

CHICAGO — While weather forecasters pointed out the fallacy of predicting the coming of spring by the "lion and lamb" method, market men today advanced what they termed an unailing indication of season's nearness, the arrival of heavy shipments of stored apples on the markets. The rush of shipments was compared to the tremendous charge of a "March lion."

Western states sent 1,260 carloads of apples to markets during the week more than any time since the middle of January. Eastern sections shipped 725 cars. While apple prices were seeking higher levels, cabbage prices continued to rise. Texas flat top broke all records selling at $110 to 2.10 a ton at Pittsburgh and St. Louis. Potatoes and onions also showed price gains.

Man of 60 Regains Vigor he Had at 35

New Orleans Resident Tells of Wonderful Results Produced by a Recent Scientific Discovery

D. W. Wood, 60, of New Orleans, La., declares he has virtually been made young again by the recently discovered korex compound, which is pronounced superior to "eland treatments" as an invigorator and revitalizer. "It has brought me back to as good, healthy physical condition as I enjoyed at 35," he writes. "I am apparently as supple as at 25." Mr. Wood says he would not take $5,000 for what the compound has done for him.

The compound is a simple home treatment in tablet form, absolutely harmless, yet the most powerful invigorator known. Acting directly on lower spinal nerve centers and certain blood vessels, it often produces amazing benefits in 24 to 36 hours. In nationwide tests, it has won the praise of thousands who suffered from nerve weakness, premature aging and lack of vitality. Physicians say it gives speedy satisfaction in cases that defy other treatments. Elderly people pronounce it a real "fountain of youth."

Knowing that this new, safe, and "too good to be true," the distributors invite any person needing the compound to take a $2 double-strength treatment, enough for ordinary cases, with the understanding that it costs nothing if it fails. If you wish to try this guaranteed invigorator, write in strict confidence to the Melton Laboratories, 3017 Massachusetts Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. If you prefer, you may enclose $2; or simply send your name, without money, and pay the postman $2 and postage on delivery. In either case, if you report after one not given you satisfaction, the laboratories will return your money immediately. This offer is fully guaranteed, so nobody need hesitate about accepting it.

Milwaukee Normal Fight is Staged Before Committee; Hearing is Continued Today

By CHESTER C. PLATT.

"Count that day just whose descending sun counts not a hundred kicks And another one begun."

That is the way Miss L. E. Stearns, the Milwaukee normal regent, put it, in referring to the protest that have come up in the normal school at Milwaukee in regard to the action of the state board of normal regents in abolishing junior college work and the commercial art department at the school.

She was speaking at the hearing of the Taxpayers' bill, which, if it passes, will restore to the Milwaukee school everything it has lost. The bill will change the name of the institution. It will be hereafter known as the Milwaukee State Teachers' college, and it will be authorized to grant a bachelor's degree. A two years' college course, substantially the same as is conducted at the University of Wisconsin, will be re-established, and a fine arts, and applied arts departments will be maintained both for students who contemplate teaching and those who may not.

The bill will also give the board of normal regents power to establish junior college work in other normal schools.

Yesterday's hearing brought a big delegation from Milwaukee. The war of words raged for about four hours.

The big gun in favor of the Teasdale bill was Carroll G. Pearce, the former president of the Milwaukee school, who resigned as a protest against the action of the regents. Then there was a battery composed of George H. Boyer, of the Association of American Engineers; A. C. Eschweiler, a Milwaukee architect; Arthur P. Bell, a Milwaukee attorney; Miss Ellen Blaukey, a teacher in the college course; E. J. Duggan, president of the Milwaukee high school; Mrs. G. A. Hipke, president of the Maternity Hospital and Dispensary association; Miss Margaret Wolfson, a student in the primary department; and the principal, Lilydahl, a graduate of the college course, now a Milwaukee real estate dealer.

On the other side were E. J. Dempsey, normal regent of Oshkosh; R. L. Duggan, normal regent of Racine; Miss L. E. Stearns, normal regent of Milwaukee; Mrs. Fitzgerald of Milwaukee; State Superintendent John Callahan; O. W. Neale, head of the rural schools training department at Stevens Point; P. O. Holt, city superintendent of schools at Janesville; E. C. Deane, secretary of the State Teachers' association, and William Hannan, attorney for the Milwaukee Teachers' association.

Dr. Pearce said the Milwaukee normal school has 1,800 students, twice as many as any other school in the state. Boys and girls who can get the first two years of college work at or near their homes are able to obtain a college education which would be impossible on account of a lack of money if they were obliged to spend four years at the university.

Other speakers stressed the same points, and told of the excellent work done by the commercial art department which trains students to be illustrators, fitting them for magazine work and for work with advertising agencies. One thousand teachers signed a protest against the abolishment of college and commercial art courses. It was said that young men and women entering the junior college department often get "a vision of service" which prompts them to take the full four years' teachers' course.

Mrs. Hipke said the decision of the board of normal regents wipes out courses which have taken 10 years to build up and leaves absolutely nothing in their place.

Opposing the bill, Mr. Dempsey said: "I am as responsible as any one else for the action of the board of regents. We have no objections to normal schools granting degrees following a four years' course, nor do we object to falling them Teachers' colleges," but he insisted that the demand for trained teachers is so urgent that the normal schools cannot carry on the primary purpose for which they were established if they take up junior college work. He said he appreciated the ambition of the heads of the normal schools to be college graduates. He referred to this as "the lust for jurisdiction." He said he did not believe that normal schools should become "Municipal Universities."

Mayor Hagan of Milwaukee says that that city is paying $20,000 a year through its art institute for doing just the kind of work done at the Milwaukee normal school. In 10 or 12 years the city of Milwaukee will own the art institute and that will supply the need for art study in that city.

Mr. Neale made a plea for the children in the open country. He said 80 per cent of the school population of the state is in one room schools, and that these schools are not as good as they were 20 years ago, employing often immature teachers with less than a high school training.

Mr. Duggan said that the normal regents were not a bunch of horse thieves as might be inferred from home things said; they had not taken any "sharp judgment."

The question is, shall we have municipal universities or normal schools?

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It is very easily prepared, and there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a pint bottle, put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and disappear. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. PROGRESS

TELEPHONE engineers carefully chart the progress of Wisconsin communities.

Telephone equipment is expensive and future growth must be carefully estimated so costly replacements to take care of increasing demands for service will not be necessary.

It is our aim not to keep up with a growing community, but to be just a step ahead. We are studying the needs of Wisconsin of tomorrow, so that the telephone service may always be equal to the demands made upon it.

Prof. Perlman Declares Wisconsin Lags In Reforms

Despite the fact that Wisconsin is one of the most progressive states in the union, her prison labor reforms have not advanced very far, declared Prof. Selig Perlman of the University of Wisconsin department last evening in his talk on the principles of prison labor before the Industrial and Business Volunteers at the Y. W. C. A.

A great deal of contract labor still exists in our prisons. One prison supplies a knitting factory, outside of Wisconsin, with all finished products. Another has been contracted by an overall factory.

Prof. Perlman pointed out the dangers of contract labor. "It makes the prisoners, the slaves of a private interest or company instead of the subjects for reform by the state. It jeopardizes private industries and free labor, because of the small expense connected with prison contracts. A company which owns the prison labor can sell commodities far lower than the company which employs free men and pays them a living wage. And the prisoners are not taught a trade or craft that they can use when their terms have expired."

"Prison reformers are urging that the state employ its prisoners in the productions needed by the state. In his way economy can be practiced, the prisoners may be taught a trade, they may be under state supervision constantly, and may have the satisfaction of feeling that they are 'squaring up' with the state."

"This question of prison reform dates back to 1829. It has received much opposition and has had to work against great odds. We should be just the day when a civilized state looks upon its prisoners as slaves."

Detective Agency Asks Permission To Operate

Madison will have a private detective agency before the opening of the summer months, if the application of the Gale Detective Agency, St. Paul, which received approval from the Madison police and fire commission Tuesday night, receives endorsement from the secretary of state's office. The Gale Agency has been located in St. Paul for the past several years, and is well recommended, according to Frank Jenks, member of the commission. Final disposition of the application now rests with the secretary of state's office.

Final Guard Bill Beaten In Senate

Following Defeat Of Hirsch Measure, Polakowski Bill Is Killed

The Wisconsin senate last night put the finishing touches on the last bill calling for abolition of the national guard, when without a roll call, it indefinitely postponed the Polakowski bill, passed by an overwhelming vote in the assembly two weeks ago. There was no argument, the measure was called and voted down.

A similar fate met the Hirsch bill in the senate early in the day. On a roll call this proposal was defeated 25 to 4.

The efforts of those opposed to the national guard will now be directed at the appropriation of the state's military institution, they announced. Gov. Blaine is standing out for a cut to $300,000 or less, and many of his followers are demanding an even more drastic reduction.

The association voted to hold the next meeting during the first week of September at Chippewa Falls. Chief Justice A. J. Dr. Laidler is a graduate of Wesleyan university. He spent some time in newspaper work in New York and in 1910 he received his L. B. degree from the Brooklyn Law School, and in 1914 his degree of Ph. D. at Columbia university. He served as editor of the "Socialist Review" and of "Laver Age." Egan and Kelly to Open New Lunch Room Thursday

Egan and Kelly will open their new "cats emporium" on Fairchild st., next to the Madison alley, today. Workmen are busy putting the finishing touches on the building, which will supersede the "dog wagon" of yore.

The new business venture of the hamburger kings has a seating capacity of 34 persons, in place of the 14 stools of the wagon. The building is of stone and brick, with a spick and span interior shining with marble table tops, nickle-plated coffee urn and cream containers, and white walls. All woodwork in the new place is of solid oak with a silver gray finish.

Egan and Kelly are firm believers of the stool and counter instead of tables.

"It gets us closer to our customers, gives a personal touch to the business," E. L. Kelly said. "It also enables us to give more rapid service, everything is handy behind the counter."

The display stand is in the center of the horseshoe counter, with plenty of space for their famous homemade pies. Mr. Kelly states that 15,000 pies a year were sold at the wagon, and an increase is looked for in the new location.

"We shall continue to make hamburgers our specialty," declares Mr. Kelly, "and will serve our champagne, ham and barbecue sandwiches."

Badger Pastor's Divorce Case May Not Be Aired

Rev. Edwin W. Todd and his wife, Mrs. Jeanne Todd.

OSHKOSH, Wis. — The divorce suit of the Rev. Edwin W. Todd, pastor of the fashionable Trinity Episcopal church here, will never be aired in an Oshkosh court, it became virtually certain on Wednesday, with postponement of two hearings, and a discovery statute examination at which Mrs. Todd was to be questioned, and the other on a motion by Mrs. Todd for modification of an order barring her from the Todd home.

June Todd, 9, is now with her mother, who has taken a house here, and the Todds' litigation is with the father. This, together with the fact that arrangements have been made to hold open the hearing on Mrs. Todd's motion, is taken to mean that progress has been made toward settlement of the divorce action brought by the pastor six weeks ago.

It is believed now that the only further public action in the case will be formal dismissal of the pastor's complaint.

Hamilton Beach Vacuum Sweeper

A cleaner without a motor-driven brush only half cleans, and takes twice as long, at that. So this sweeper combines a motor-driven brush with extra powerful suction. The brush whizzes up all clinging dirt and lint, and thoroughly shakes loose all deeply embedded particles. Then the powerful suction draws up all the dirt and litter, while lifting and straightening the nap.

During the month of March, we will allow $10 For Your Old Cleaner on the purchase price of a Hamilton Beach Vacuum Sweeper. Or to each purchaser who has no old cleaner to replace, we will give their choice of a Westinghouse, Estate or Hotpoint

Labor Place On Education Boards Beaten

Titus Bill Goes Down When Progressive Senators Change Votes

The attempt to increase the size of educational boards in Wisconsin, as proposed in the Titus bill, adding two farmer and two labor members to the board of university and normal school regents was finally defeated in the senate last night 16 to 12 when the measure came up for passage.

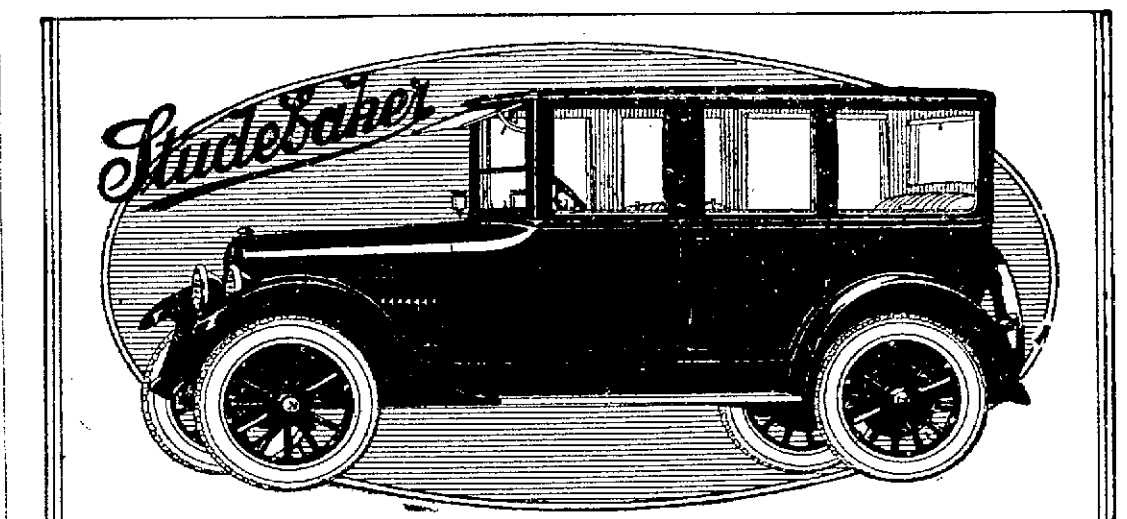

Enactment of the bill would have given Gov. Blaine immediate control of the board of university regents. Twice previously the bill had met with success in the upper house on roll calls.

Last night's vote stood:

For passage: Barber, Cashman, Casperson, Hirsch, Huber, Johnson, Kemp, Polakowski, Quick, Schumann, Severson, Titus.

Against passage: Benfey, Elgert, Burke, Clark, Gettelman, Kuckuk, Lange, Morris, Ridgway, Roethe, Skogmo, Smith, Staudenmayer, Teasdale, White.

23 SERIES STUDEBAKER LIGHT-SIX SEDAN $1550

Hidden qualities largely determine the value and life of a closed car. Beauty of line and finish and refinements are surface indications and important ones. But your satisfaction with a closed car depends to a great degree upon factors that are unseen—the in-built qualities that come from correct design, use of highest grade materials and careful workmanship.

The 23 Series Studebaker Light-Six Sedan is a quality car. It is built to endure—to give lasting satisfaction. The Sedan body is substantially made. It will last for years and retain its beauty and comfort. Evidence of its hidden goodness lies in the fact that down under the paint and varnish, the pillars, roof rails and supporting members are made from specially selected ash. Good ash is expensive but Studebaker uses it because it best combines the proper strength and weight.

Four wide-opening doors make it easy for all passengers to get in or out without inconvenience to each other. A high-grade heater affords summer warmth on cold, damp days. The wide windows give broad vision in every direction.

When you buy a Light-Six Sedan you are really accepting the judgment of 100,000 owners who have found the Light-Six chassis so satisfactory. Studebaker quality is traditional.

Judge Stolen Announces Exams To Be Held Next Week

Examinations of applicants for the position of Dane county woman probation officer will take place late next week, it was announced today by Judge O. A. Stolen of the Superior court.

Application blanks will be mailed tomorrow, the judge stated, and examinations will begin immediately following the return of the blanks.

Not more than a dozen applicants are expected to enter the race for the probation position. Each applicant must pass a rigid examination to be given by Judge Stolen next week. Final choice of the officer will be in the hands of the judge, who declares that he will pick the woman whom he feels to be most capable of serving the county's needs.

The office of a woman probation officer to aid T. C. Purcell, was created only after a two year battle on the part of Mr. Purcell and local judges succeeded in getting a bill through the January session of the county board appropriating half the salary of the office. The city common council appropriated the balance of the salary at their February meeting.

Alter Income Law

March 15 Now Deadline For Filing State Returns As Well As Federal

The time for filing of state income tax returns has been extended to March 15 by the legislature, says an announcement from H. R. Briggs, county assessor of income. It formerly was March 1. In a warning to taxpayers, he says:

"It is not sufficient to mail the report on March 15, but the return must be in the office by that time. Penalties will be imposed upon all late returns."

Some persons have the erroneous impression that when their income is below their exemptions, that no return is necessary, and simply write across the blank that their income is not sufficient to be taxed. Such returns will not be accepted. When a blank is sent to a person, the law states that such person shall make a report, specifying the details of the amounts of income received by him and return without the income and expenses itemized will not be accepted by the assessor.

The office of assessor of income will remain open Saturday, March 10, from 1 o'clock to 4 o'clock to accommodate tax payers who require assistance. The assessor will furnish help required in making out reports but before asking for assistance, tax payers are requested to read the law thoroughly and to make it out as far as they can.

Sometimes they move from one part to another, sending out lightning jabs which produce untold misery.

Next Week Is Nils Rein Blends Fantasy Of Norse Dreamer With an Artist's Keen Imagination

Department of Music and Tests

Of such stuff as dreams are made was the concert of Nils Rein, violinist, at the Christ Presbyterian church last night. The entire program was a composite blending of the fantasy of a Norse dreamer and the dramatic imagination of an artist, woven throughout with the tender passion of restless, ambitious youth.

A program of the highest type of musical appeal, was the way in which Peter Dykema, university school of music, characterized the concert, given by the Madison youth. Before the final number, Mr. Dykema addressed the audience, paying tribute to the "sincerity, earnestness, and fineness of attitude toward music, which Mr. Rein displays. Fritz Kreisler, on his last visit to Madison, heard the young man play, and commented highly on the future which he promised.

From the pleading motif of the opening score of "Concerto," Mendelssohn, op. 64, to the last melody of his own version of "Drink To Me Only With These Eyes," Mr. Rein held the large audience hanging breathlessly on his low strings. Undoubtedly the best thing that he did during the evening was his own composition, "Halling," a little dance of moonbeam tapers and begins very like Kreisler's famous "Caprice" but does nothing more than mimic about like mid-night crows pecking from behind all kinds of grass. By request, Mr. Rein repeated the number.

For the rest of the program, Mr. Rein interpreted selections of enough variety to prove his mastery of technique, tonal perfection, and versatility.

His originality showed to best advantage in the "Waltz" by Brahms-Hochstein, to which he lent

YOUR finest rugs and draperies are most quickly and thoroughly cleaned the Royal Way—by air, alone. Powerful air-suction, scientifically applied by Royal Cleaner, removes both surface litter such as thread, lint and embedded dirt.

This embedded dirt is dangerous to health because it is literally alive with disease germs—too small to be swept out by brooms or revolving brushes.

Embedded dirt also shortens the life of the rug—like sharp sand, it cuts and wears the thread at every footfall.

The strong air suction of the Royal Cleaner gets this doubly dangerous embedded dirt as well as the surface litter and removes it all from your finest rugs without the slightest injury.

Mrs. Thompson's Advice

SHOULD SHE WRITE TO OTHER BOY?

Engaged Girl Wonders If It Is Proper Impersonal Letter Is All Right, Advice

DEAR MRS. THOMPSON: I am a girl of nineteen and until recently have been engaged. Before I became engaged I had been corresponding with a very nice young man from a neighboring city, but because I didn't think it proper to continue the correspondence after my engagement, I told him that I thought it wiser to discontinue our relationship. I liked him as a friend and would like to have him back again, but do not know how to go about it. He told me that whenever I came to his city to let him know and he would try to entertain me while there. Would it be all right to start the correspondence again? I valued him first among my other boy friends, but of course didn't love him.

LONESOME BOBBY.

If he has been a close friend, an impersonal letter would do no harm. You no doubt have many interests in common which you might discuss.

You shouldn't need any explanation. You ought to know, without having to be told, that you have no right to expect this privilege of any girl except the one who promises to marry you. And evidently you have not asked for that promise.

You state that this friendship is no trifling matter to you, yet you evidently have given the girl the impression that you are trifling with her affections. It may be that she permitted you to kiss her, but because she cared for you, and at first believed that you cared for her. If you have not mentioned marriage she doubtless is hurt and humiliated at the thought that she has given her love unasked.

HAVE NO GOOD TIMES

We are two girls, 18 years old, living in a small town. The young people we care about here went to college after they finished high school, but we can't afford to go. So we are very lonely and have almost no good times. What can a girl do when she's left behind this way, and has no way to meet new girls and have a good time?

Your letter suggests that you think that the only young people in your community—except yourselves—who are worth while, are those who have the opportunity to go to college.

That is a very mistaken and selfish attitude. There must be other girls and young men situated as you are. The thing to do is to organize them into a social club and make the most of your opportunities for social good times and perhaps some advancement along other lines. If there are not enough young people in your village for the kind of club you would like, invite the young people of neighboring farms and another nearby village. With the automobile in such general use, 10 miles is now a distance of less consequence in a matter of this kind than two miles used to be.

SUPPORT OF CHILDREN

I married a divorcee man who had two children by his first marriage. He has to contribute to the support of the children and this makes it very hard for us, as he doesn't make very much. His first wife lives with her parents and they could afford to provide for the children if he refused to pay. But he won't do this for fear he won't be allowed to see the children any more. Do you think he is treating me fair? Doesn't a wife come first?

Disputed.

A man cannot always put aside old responsibilities merely because he has assumed new ones. Nor

The Ways of a Widow

ELSIE DISCOVERS THE FIGHTING PARSON.

Senator Hallock had guessed aright. When the old man's message was read, it was Governor Morgan's creature Dixon, whom he had nominated for the place.

Before the buzz of comment on the floor and in the galleries had died away, two senators of the governor's party hurried to where Fighting Parson Michael was sitting.

"Awfully sorry we are not going to have a chance to vote for your man," one of them said. "If the governor had named him, we would have been more than glad to support him."

"Perhaps," returned the fighting chaplain gently, "you may still have the opportunity."

While the two senators were discussing this, the senator was called to order. Senator Hallock was on his feet.

"I have several comments I would like to make on the governor's nomination," he said, "but instead of making them, I wish to yield the floor to our distinguished guest, Fighting Parson Michael of the Fighting Ninety-Ninth."

There was a burst of applause from the galleries. Standing near the door where a gallant sergeant of arms had made room for her, Elsie Freeman looked down in bewilderment as a tall broad shouldered man bowed his acknowledgment from beside the senator's chair.

That the Rev. Michael Simpson and Fighting Parson Michael were one and the same person was news to her. She leaned forward now, her eyes wide with interest.

The lieutenant governor was shaking his head.

"I'm afraid I'll have to deny that request, Senator Hallock," he said. "I am sure we are all most anxious to hear Mr. Simpson, but all in good time. There is pressing business before the Senate."

"It's that same pressing business I am referring to," retorted the minority leader. "Fighting Mike has some information concerning the governor's nomination that this Senate ought to hear before the vote is taken."

"The voice of order!" on one side of the Senate and equally vociferous cries in favor of Senator Hallock from his side. The lieutenant governor poured order. The majority leader, Senator Brown, was on his feet.

"I am willing to waive the point of order," he said contemptuously, "provided the Senate agrees. Put the question to a vote. Shall the reverend gentleman be allowed to interrupt a session of the Senate now—or later?"

At this insult pandemonium broke loose but when order was again restored, Senator Hallock took up the challenge and agreed to a vote.

The girl in the gallery understood at last. When Nora Garfield had telephoned her in haste to go to the state capitol and bring the Rev. Michael back with her, she had meant to make explanations. But, had she obeyed, Elsie had gotten out of bed and taken the next train.

There was nothing else she could have done. Her father was old, where she did not know, and Miss Garfield had been imperative. The bugle note of Elsie's action had been her one clue. For the rest, she had trusted the Rev. Michael from his hotel to the capitol, only to find him in the midst of a fight that until now had no meaning to her.

With a thrill of pride she listened as a man after man voted for him, then with sinking heart, she realized that the "noes" were increasing.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Buckwheat Cakes—Two cups buttermilk, one teaspoon salt, two cups buckwheat flour, one yeast cake, one-half cup warm water, one-half teaspoon soda, one tablespoon molasses. Mix buttermilk, salt, flour, yeast cake dissolved in one-half cup warm water, and molasses all together and let rise over night. In the morning add soda dissolved in a little warm water and fry as any griddle cakes.

Braised Beef Tongue—Put a fresh beef tongue in boiling water and cook slowly for two hours. Take from water and remove skin. Place in a casserole and surround with a half cup of celery, onions, carrots and turnips (diced). Pour over all three or four cups of brown sauce, a cup of strained tomato, cover closely and bake for two hours. Sauce: Brown two tablespoons butter. Add gradually three cups of water in which the tongue was cooked. Season to taste.

SUGGESTIONS

As soon as the first warm days of spring arrive open the house wide and let the winter smog out and the fresh air in. Sunshine is the best disinfectant in the world. "Home Dressmaking"—A resourceful mother tells how she makes the children's clothes so as to allow for their growth. In making my little five-year-old boy's Oliver Twist suit I cut the waist about two inches longer than the pattern. I put two bands on each waist, one two inches below the one called for on the pattern. I saw the buttons on the upper band. Next summer I can simply cut the buttons down onto the lower band, and rip the upper band off, allowing two inches for corny's growth. In making the little muddy suits, I cut the trousers a little longer than the pattern from the top of the crotch, and place two rows of buttons on the crotch, buttoning the lower trousers on the upper buttons and the last year's trousers onto the lower buttons. In this way I find that going can wear his suits two seasons. This is especially well adapted to the little wool suits. I hope this suggestion may help the mothers of other little growing boys. In making daughters' school dresses I make a deep hem that put a two-inch neck on the under side of the hem. Daughter can let hem lengthen her skirt as she grows.

Curtain Hint—When making new curtains or curtains made out of goods bought by the yard a ways make the hems in both ends the same, then turn them out for end and they were much longer as all the wear is on one end. The rubber disk on the end of the curtain wears out, take a round rubber from the end of a pencil, cut it in half, shove a hole through the center, shove it around the edge and stretch it over the brass knob on the end of the roller.

Kiddies-Can-Do-It

IT would be very hard to find a better subject to tint with your water-colors or crayons than the brilliant-colored Virginia Redbird. Use the most brilliant red you have in your paint box and add just a little brownish tinge to its wings. This will make a dandy colored picture of the sweetest singer in the bird kingdom. Be sure and cut this picture out and paste it in your scrap book. Sometime real soon there will be another member of the bird family for you to tint. So save them and when your teacher asks you the color of different birds, you cannot only tell her, but show her.

Uncle Wiggily's Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE PAPER BAG
Copyright, 1923, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping home to his hollow stump bungalow, he heard a voice calling behind him and saying:

"Hold on! Wait a minute! I want you!"

"Oh, ho; no, indeed! Nothing like that!" thought the bunny gentleman to himself. "You're the Fox or Wolf—I know you are—and you want to nibble my ears!"

So Uncle Wiggily hopped on all the faster, but when he heard a jolly laugh close behind him the bunny rabbit turned and saw Mr. Whitewash, his polar bear friend.

"What's your hurry, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Mr. Whitewash. "I am lonesome and I wanted to walk with you."

"Oh, excuse me! I thought you were the Wolf or Fox," said Uncle Wiggily. "Of course I'll walk with you."

Then the two friends walked along together until, at a sudden, Uncle Wiggily saw an empty paper bag on the ground where it had been dropped, perhaps by the delivery dog boy from the grocery store.

"I'll play a little trick on Nurse Jane with this paper bag," said Uncle Wiggily as he picked it up. "How will you play a trick on Nurse Jane with an empty bag?" asked the polar bear gentleman.

"I'll make believe it's filled with something good," chuckled Uncle Wiggily.

"How can you?" Mr. Whitewash wanted to know. "As soon as Nurse Jane sees the bag she can tell that it is flat and empty."

"I'll blow the bag full of air," laughed the bunny gentleman. "That will swell it up like a balloon."

"Bang!" it went with a noise like a gun. "Bang!"

"Oh! Oh, dear! Ouch! I'm shot. I knew you weren't telling the truth when you said you had nothing in that bag!" howled the Bob Cat. "You had a gun in it and I'm shot. Oh, dear!" and away he ran.

"But he wasn't shot at all, for there was only air in the bag and it was that which made the noise when it burst out."

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily as he looked at the burst bag. "It was a better trick on the Bob Cat than it would have been on Nurse Jane. Ha! Ha! Everybody happened for the best."

And if the parlor carpet isn't proud to speak to the dining room rug when Uncle Wiggily comes to clean it, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Mr. Snapper.

Oberg Speaks to A. M. S. E. On Engineering Journals

That European engineering journals are superior to American journals in purely scientific matters is the opinion of Mr. Erick Oberg, editor of the American Mechanist, as expressed in an address to engineering students given Wednesday afternoon under the auspices of A. M. S. E.

"The American technical journal," said Mr. Oberg, "excels in the presentation of the practical side of engineering. The sections devoted to 'practical hints' are peculiar to the American periodicals."

The necessity for accuracy in preparing engineering literature was stressed by the speaker who emphasized the worthlessness of an inaccurate engineering journal.

"Men intending to enter the field of engineering journalism," said Mr. Oberg in conclusion, "need first to obtain a broad experience in engineering practice."

Easter will soon be here and undoubtedly many a woman's thought are dwelling on her Easter outfit. What shall it be? A suit or frock? A cape or top coat? A general utility outfit or a dressy wardrobe? Such a suit as this one would not solve any problems for that woman but for the woman who has a knockabout suit, a top coat or a wrap and a frock the dressy type of suit is just the thing needed to round out her spring wardrobe. The suit is a two piece model. It has a plain-skirt, rather long, and a short bloused coat which is almost entirely covered with intricate embroidery in gray silk threads. An unusual little turban of gray silk makes a smart Easter hat for wear with a suit or wrap.

This Year Brings Knickers of Slik For Sports Wear

By ELOISE

This golf suit is entirely new in texture as well as color. The material is called "Invo" and is made by a silk company. It is like a silk. It is apple green in color. There is no question, this season about the knicker suit. It is firmly established as the correct garb for sports wear. Every athletic girl will pack a knicker suit of some kind in her vacation luggage and not only girls but matrons as well are won over to the knicker idea.

When they came in last spring some tried to spurn them but the comfort afforded on the camping trip, the motor trip, the country hike and the links soon won over even the most obstinate. Of course, the foolish virgins who took up the fad because it was new and wore knickers to everything from Sunday school to the theater did much to retard their growing popularity but all that was needed was the next fall of long, slinky gowns with a buckle at the hip and these little knickers popped right over from knickers to gowns.

Keep Looking Young

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes—with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by restoring the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 50c.—Adv.

DISCUSSES SUMMER PLAY.
Supervised play for the children during summer vacation was endorsed by the Parent-Teacher association of Washington school at their monthly meeting which was held yesterday afternoon at the school building.

Mrs. L. E. Stevens, president of the association, presented the discussion of vocational opportunities for the children, after telling the members of the work of the State Parent-Teacher association in investigating and bettering the social welfare of the children throughout the state.

"Our unsupervised school yard is too hot in the summer," said Miss Mary L. Edgren, principal of the school, in discussing vocational activities. "The children would have to go to Birminghams park or one of the lake shores, and most of the children are too young to go so far. While some of you need no other than your own yard for your children to play in, there are many children who have no way of getting adequate outdoor exercise necessary to growing children."

The plan was given the endorsement of the association.

The programs of the grades preceding the business meeting were given in connection with the work of the children in the art appreciation contest.

LONGFELLOW PROGRAM.
George Berg, one of the supervisors at Tenney park last summer spoke before the Longfellow Parent-Teacher association in the kindergarten room yesterday afternoon on "The Need of Supervised Play."

"While the teachers have the state law compelling children to attend school to assist them, playground instructors have to make things interesting to get children to come. There must be well trained leaders on every playground then," Mrs. Berg told the mothers and teachers.

Mrs. S. A. Leonard spoke on handicraft work for children of the first three grades.

She gave as an example a playhouse in a piano box that some children had. Shortly after children made their playhouses with windows, porches, and furnishings of things they made or brought from home. Finally they had a small community with grocery stores and other shops.

The Longfellow P. T. A. voted in favor of supervised playgrounds for the coming summer. Members discussed social centers in the larger sense including adults with the financing to come from the city council. Several short selections were given by the fifth grade before the business meeting.

Mother! Move Child's Bowels

"California Fig Syrup" is Child's Best Laxative

"Hurry Mother! A teaspoonful of 'California Fig Syrup' now will thoroughly clean the little bowels and in a few hours you have a well, playful child again. Even a cross, feverish, constipated child loves its 'fruit' taste, and mothers can rest because it never fails to work all the sour bile and poisons right out of the stomach and bowels without griping or upsetting the child."

Tell your druggist you want only the genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother, you must say "California." Refuse any imitation. Adv.

Lawyers Try King David
For Murder of Soldier
King David faced trial for the murder of one of his soldiers at the regular meeting of Menorah society held last evening in athrop

The biblical regent was at the are students in the Law school, and who previously worked out the legal procedure of the case.

It was charged that the murdered soldier was sent into battle with the avowed desire of the king to be

Gala Opening
Featureb By Gloria Film

At 6:30 o'clock tonight the doors of the new Madison theater will be thrown open for virtually the first time with Gloria Swanson taking the leading role. It has been three or four months since the old Grand was taken over by Fischer and during the interim wonders have been wrought by painters, electricians, carpenters and a host of other workers.

Many people were disappointed a few years ago to come back to town and find that the majestic theater, which they had supposed was under reconstruction, had been altered very little indeed.
There will be no disappointment in connection with the Madison. For, although the general contour of the playhouse has not been materially changed, the atmosphere is entirely different from that which prevailed in the Grand.
Organ Will Feature
One of the features of the house is the organ, the largest in the city and one of the largest in the state according to the management. The raised console is something which has not been introduced hitherto into Madison.
The organ is so placed that it will rise above the stage when an overture is played or for a stage production. This feature allows the audience an unobstructed view of the organist.

The blue upholstered seats accommodate altogether about 900 spectators.
Gloria Swanson Stars
The opening show promises to be a long one. Gloria Swanson in "My American Wife" is the feature picture for the remainder of the week. But a number of stage attractions will be included.
A jazz band, a child toe dancer by the name of Lillian Wolfson and a song and dance act called the "Sunshine Kiddies", comprise stage features for the initial show.

Every member of the fair sex will probably race to the new theater when she learns that Gloria, one of the star dressers of the screen, will display some new col-fures in the picture. This ever dignified actress has condemned the frivolous style of hairdress along with frivolous clothes and has even done away with the curling irons.

Barbara's Beauty Came

"Ryan One of Best Coaches in Country Today" ---T.E. Jones

By BRYN GRIFFITHS

JACK RYAN has been appointed head football coach at the University of Wisconsin, and the announcement was made Wednesday afternoon to THE CAPITAL TIMES by T. E. Jones that, "Ryan, in my opinion, is one of the best coaches in the country." Jones gives an insight as to what the Badger department thinks of the former star and coach.

When the appointment of a coach, there are a few facts that must come to mind. One fact that should be stressed is that the other is one T. E. Jones, head of the department, brought out in an address to the board of regents Wednesday morning just after the recommendation had been approved.

That fact is this:

No man except Jack Ryan was offered the job as head coach here since the resignation of John R. Richards shortly after the close of the 1922 season.

This fact will discount any stories published heretofore regarding offers made to Pat Page, George Little, and others. "Pure bunk" is the best way to brand them.

During the meeting of the regents Wednesday at which the writer was present, Walter Kohler, president of the board, asked Jones to make a definite statement whether or not any other man

"I'm quite elated over my appointment to the position as football coach at Wisconsin," Ryan told THE CAPITAL TIMES over long distance phone from Milwaukee last night.

"You can say for me to your readers that I'll give Wisconsin everything that's in me and will do my very best for the success of the football team. It's the chance that a man gets once in a lifetime and now that it has come to me you can rest assured that Jack Ryan is going to do everything in his ability to prove that Wisconsin has selected the right man for the job."

besides Ryan had been offered the job.

OFFERED ONLY RYAN

"No," Jones replied. "Ryan is the only man who has ever received an offer from us. I will qualify that statement, however, by saying that the athletic council corresponded with Jack Wilce of Ohio State regarding the position. It was not offered him, however. No doubt we would have asked Wilce, but the letter sent to him was merely a "feeler."

Wisconsin now has a full time coach. Will he make good? When Jack Ryan first came to Madison he made himself acquainted with the writer and "Roundy" just before filing his application for the position.

RYAN CONFIDENT

"With the material Wisconsin has there is no reason why a football coach should not make good here," Ryan said.

"The 'Big Ten' is the biggest organization of its kind in the football world today and if I get the job as coach I know I'll make good. I've had the experience both as coach and player, and with my knowledge of football in the east, west and mid-west I think that I could deliver the goods," he said.

The statements above show that Ryan is full of confidence.

HAS PERSONALITY

Anyone who knows Ryan will admit that he has a fine personality and is the type of man that can instill fighting spirit into a team. This counts as much as anything in the game, as any coach realizes.

High School Teams Go Into Action In Tourneys Today

Badger Preps Meet

Engle In Opener

At Brodhead Gym

High Meets Janesville Five At 8:15

BRYN GRIFFITHS

One of the biggest basketball tournaments ever held here will open tonight at the Brodhead gymnasium with the Janesville team meeting the Engle team.

The tournament is scheduled for five days at Brodhead.

One of the features of the tournament is the fact that the teams are made up of players from all over the state.

The people of the local area are good enough to make this gym a home for local and other teams that come here to play.

A swell time would be had in this city of "education" if they didn't. Where would you play? Down in Brodhead park with an air light?

Games will be played Thursday night, Friday night, Saturday afternoon and Sunday afternoon. The Janesville team is coming to a crack five here and so is St. Louis. They say the games last year were full of thrills. The small town teams come here with blood in their eyes and it takes a lot of knock 'em dead stuff to beat them, and every fan should make it a point to see these games.

Southern Wisconsin Athletic Association Is Seeking More Members; 50 Now Signed; Plan Boxing

CAMBRIDGE — Approving the articles of organization electing officers, and adopting a 16 game schedule comprised the business transacted by representatives of towns interested in the Southern Wisconsin Athletic Association at a recent meeting here.

Officers elected were Frank Sinclair, Janesville, president; O. J. Beyer, Elkhart, vice president; P. M. Hallen, Janesville, secretary-treasurer.

The league season will open May 13 and will close August 26. Only Sunday games will be played.

Joie Smashes World Record In N. Y. Race

Beats 5,000 Meter Race At W. U. A. A. Meet

NEW YORK—Joie A. Ray of the Illinois A. C. Chicago, Wednesday night defeated Willie Ritola of the Finnish-American Athletic club of New York by 30 yards in a 5,000 meter race at the annual track and field games of the Western Union Athletic association.

Both Ray and Ritola broke the world's record for the event set by the Flying Finn last Feb. 24, which record, however, has not yet been accepted officially by the Amateur Athletic union. Christy Jole finished Wednesday in 14 minutes and 34 seconds and the vanquished in three and three-fifths slower. Ritola's former time was 15 minutes.

do that same stunt till Sunday. Talk about condition. Watch the pinkness of Jimmie's body when he crawls in those ropes Tuesday night.

Tommy Gibbons is a bigger man than most fans figure. Tommy will tip the beam at 187 in fighting pose and Dempsey will not tip it over 160 in trim either. There two men would make a great match on paper. Dempsey looks like a sure winner but that two-year lay-off might give the fans a rude awakening when he fights a good man next time.

New Glarus, a small town near here, puts in at least 10 long distance calls to this office to find out the score of the game when Wisconsin played Purdue here, showing you some class for sports in that village.

Indiana was out on the floor Sunday and at it for the Wisconsin game. They are yelling Indiana some down in that burg yet, after losing Iowa.

Mr. Roundy—We are going to keep our National guard in Iowa to shoot the first person that lets Coach Sam Barry ever get away from old Iowa.

Roundy Gets Poem From Hobo Ball Player-Poet

Wednesday's mail brought to THE CAPITAL TIMES office the following little poem by a hobo baseball player and poet who asks if there isn't a chance to get on the Madison ball club this summer.

This player has played in the small western leagues but no doubt would be plenty fast enough for teams that have been organized here.

His little poem follows:

PLAY BALL, ROUNDY

Oh, Roundy, old boy, you're a booster for fair.

You're rushing the season along.

The pessimists' whines and the clouds of despair

Are quelled by the lift of your song.

Oh, yes, not so long 'ere we hear the sweet sound,

Of the umpire's voice ringing clear.

A yelling, "play ball" while the guy on the mound

Is posing a bit with the sphere.

That small bit of hide, so elusive and round,

Which often you've nailed for a hit (24)

So hard have you flamed it, it couldn't be found.

So you said, but I guess you did n't.

If you did, then you can do it again.

Just like father could do when a kid,

But, listen, old man, it sounds like a sin

To tell what 'uster 'ave did.

It's not what you do with the gift of the gab,

That will hold 'er the fans any way;

It's what you can do with that little old slab

Right now in the present—to day.

So don't be a-telling of past yesterday,

How you flamed 'em clear out to the woods;

For he who expects the applause and benediction

Has got to deliver the goods.

P. S.—Well, if we can't deliver the slab we can at least get on the side lines with Roundy and do some boosting.

John Bradford.

Gleason Won't Bother About Robertson

MARLIN, Texas — Manager Kid Gleason of the White Sox, has ten promising pitchers in camp here and says he is not worrying about the absence of Charley Robertson, who pitched a perfect no-hit, no-run game against Detroit last season. Robertson is at home in Sherman, Texas, expecting the White Sox to meet his salary demands.

Detroit Boasts Of Hitting Team, Average .329

CHICAGO—A line-up with a 300 or better hitter in every position is one of the things other American league teams may have to contend with when they meet Detroit this season.

On the basis of 1922 averages, Manager Cobb will be able to put a team with a grand batting average of .329 on the field, with none of the players batting under the covered 300 mark.

This hard hitting line-up follows: Blue, first base 300; Haney, third base, 302; Cobb, center field, 401; Veach, left field, 327; Heilmann, right field, 336; Pratt, second base, 302; Rigney, shortstop, 300; Bascles, catcher, 324; Woodall, catcher, 344; Moore, pitcher, 303; Fothergill, outfielder, 322; Flagstead, outfielder, 308.

Maroon Quint May Upset U.W. Varsity Squad

Norgren's Team Is Considered Strong; Play Saturday

The Wisconsin basketball team will have its hands full when it meets Coach Nels Norgren's Maroon Quint in the Midway strongpoint on Saturday night.

Chicago has been coming to the fore by leaps and bounds. The team has a 500 percentage win five victories and five defeats. In its recent games, it has beaten Illinois and Purdue, the latter by a 29 to 22 score. Although the Maroon Quint seems to be an "off again, on again" team, and any quint with a victory over them is a title-chaser.

Earnes is leading the Conference in individual scoring records. He tossed in 15 out of 17 free throws against Purdue. The Cedar Rapids boy is a smashing type of forward who crashes his way down the floor. He collided with Route Williams in the game here and the indomitable Route was forced to leave the game. Capt. Yardley is another husky player, as is Dickson, who was end on the football team.

With these men as opponents, Wisconsin will have to use every bit of reserve power it possesses to pull a victory out of the fire. If the Badgers beat Chicago, they may emerge from the game in such poor shape that a win over Indiana would be improbable.

Local Women Bowlers Meet At A. O. C. Tonight

All Madison women bowlers are asked to meet in the Madison Association of Commerce offices tonight at 8 o'clock and discuss plans for the city bowling tournament to be held here soon.

Jack Burns Meets Gotch In Big Mat Card Here Tuesday

Local Man Rolls 298 For Seasons Single Game Record

Henry M. Butler, a Madison man, holds the season's bowling record for a single game. He rolled a score of 298, only two pins off from a perfect score. Butler formerly rolled with the Badger team of Madison.

The 298 score was rolled in Chicago Feb. 15, in the alleys across from the Union passenger depot, according to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE sporting editor, who writes as follows:

"Chicago—Butler rolled 11 straight strikes and slipped on his last ball. It was the prettiest rolling seen in Chicago in years, and replaces the old mark of 278 as a city record."

New Haven Pitcher Is Expected To Be 'Find'

MARLIN, Texas — Frank Woodward, the big right-hand pitcher purchased by the White Sox from New Haven, is expected to prove the find the season among candidates for mound duty in the majors. He is not only a sensational pitcher, but is more than a fair hitter. He batted in fifty games last season and had an average of .227. He scored 20 runs, and in making thirty hits, batted 3 doubles, 3 triples and 3 home runs. As a fielder he ranked first among the twirlers of the league with a perfect mark of 1-0-00, having handled 115 chances without an error in forty-two games. He was credited with winning 23 games and charged with 12 defeats, for a percentage of .657. He struck out 186 men and walked 103.

Chicago Net Tourney Attracts High Schools

CHICAGO—The national interscholastic basketball tournament to be held under the auspices of the University of Chicago April 4, 5, 6 and 7, promises to exceed all records set by former ones. The tournament last year drew twelve state champions and a total of sixteen states were represented. Already word has been received from teams from twenty states seeking to enter the tournament.

The event will be limited to 32 teams, representing the best from all sections of the country.

Jack Dempsey Won't Accept $100,000 Offer

CLEVELAND, O.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight boxing champion, will not meet Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul, in a 12 round bout here on July 4 or on Labor day. "Gibbons not interested" was the cryptic reply received by a local promoter on Wednesday to an offer of a $100,000 guarantee or 37 1/2 per cent of the gate receipts. Gibbons already had accepted terms, the promoter said.

Rewey Wins First Platteville Game

PLATTEVILLE, Wis.—The Platteville district high school basketball tournament was started here before a packed normal auditorium. Rewey defeated Belmont in the opener, 19 to 7.

Platteville against Cuba City, in the second game, was another matter. The two teams battling furiously from start to finish, the score being 14 to 12, Cuba City taking the victory.

Demetral And Jack Albright 'To Settle Argument

JACK Burns, Mason City, Ia., will be the opponent for Young Gotch on the double windup wrestling card to be held at Turner hall next Tuesday night when Jimmie Demetral will meet Jack Albright and strive to take away that individual's silver trophy, won by him in Canada last year. The trophy represents the middleweight championship of Canada.

Jimmie Demetral is working extraordinarily hard for the coming middleweight wrestling title of Wisconsin who wrestled to a draw with Young Gotch here last week won't be able to come here Tuesday for his bout with Gotch because of another match down south.

Stoeff writes he is sorry but desires to meet Gotch again.

bout and will have to be in the best of condition if he anticipates wrestling the cup from Albright. The New Yorker weighs 180 pounds but has agreed to make 150 the day of the match.

The state athletic commission has consented to allow the bout to go the limit—no time being set on the length of the bout. The winner will be obliged to win two falls and in the event there aren't two falls and the boys can't go any further it will be a draw.

It's a match to the finish and it should be a great battle.

Tickets are selling now at the Fischer Brothers and Abaly's Pool halls. Many reservations have already been made for ring side seats.

Sophs Play Yearling Five In Gym Today

With the sale of seats definitely under way this morning, promoters of the soph-fresh basketball game this afternoon expect that enough will be taken in at the gate to pay the expenses of the freshmen squad to Chicago Saturday.

Fraternities and sororities were asked last night to dispose of blocks of tickets to their members. The bill sales will go on today until the time of the game. Freshmen men will assist members of the squad in the sale.

Probable lineup: Sophomores—Varney L.F., Leberman R.F., Diebold C., Radke L.G., Harris R.G.

Badger Track Men Prepare For Notre Dame

Wisconsin track stars are working hard and late in the gym annex in an attempt to get into winning condition for their next dual meet which is scheduled for Saturday when Coach Rockne's Notre Dame squad invades the Badger camp.

Wisconsin has succeeded in winning from the Irish squad for the past two years and will strive to take a third straight victory.

Notre Dame has a team this year which is to be feared and they will come to Wisconsin determined to break the jinx which has hung over their heads in the past.

Wisconsin's 1923 record is not particularly reassuring, but the meet again: Notre Dame will be the first real test for the squad.

Tickets for Indiana Game Go on Sale Saturday Noon

Tickets for the Indiana-Wisconsin basketball game on Monday night will go on sale at 12:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Paul F. Hunter, ticket sales manager, said yesterday:

"Mr. Hunter decided to begin the sale at 12:30 so that students having morning classes need not cut them to purchase tickets. He declared also that he did not want the sale of tickets to the Notre Dame basketball game on Saturday to conflict with the sale of tickets to the basketball game on Sunday."

"We were asked by Manager Hunter to procure their tickets before the game begins on Saturday."

Chadbourne Holds Annual Freshman Corridor Spread

The traditional corridor spread for the freshmen at Chadbourne hall took place in the recently finished Chad parlor Tuesday night.

The different floors staged various stunts. "How times have changed" was a stunt given by the second floor. A mock trial and a parody on Romeo and Juliet were given by third and fourth floors.

Although it is a custom to hold this spread the first part of the year, it was necessary to postpone it on account of the repairs going on in the front part of Chadbourne.

Rocky Mountain Club Elects New Officers

Members of Rocky Mountain club held election of officers last night in Lathrop parlors.

The club also made plans for a party to be held sometime during the week before spring vacation.

Miss Noer completed her third year of service on the business staff of The Cardinal.

Dean Turneaure Speaks on Engineers' License Bill

"This is a very simple law and will merely require that all engineers secure a license if they wish to practice as engineers," said Dean Turneaure before the American Society of Civil Engineers last night when the bill regarding the licensing of engineers was being discussed.

"This law will not create any new boards, nor will it make the engineering profession a closed one," said the Dean.

Professor Van Hagan said that it would clear up the profession and that it would improve the standard of engineering ability, when he was discussing the merits of the bill. He said that due to the grand-father clause which will permit present engineers to continue to practice, no benefit would be derived immediately, but that in a few years all practicing engineers would be benefited.

Mr. Almond of the railroad commission said that the licensing would merely narrow down the field of the engineer's activity.

Former Professor Here Writes Book On Menus

One of the leading dietitians of the world, Prof. E. V. McCollum, formerly of the University of Wisconsin and now of the Johns Hopkins institute, Baltimore, has recently issued an excellent book in answer to the housekeepers' universal cry: "What shall we have for dinner?" Food values are most sensibly considered, and a menu is given for every day of the year.

The new book, "American Home Diet," is published by the McGraw-Hill Book Co.

Abandonment Of Horses Brings Driver's Arrest

State Humane Officer A. E. Frederick on Tuesday requested a warrant for the arrest of Theodore Brewer, Hayward, for cruel abandonment of animals.

Brewer, it is claimed, is a conscientious driver of a team of horses from Hayward to Spooner, a distance of about 80 miles, and tied them unblanketed and unwatered in an abandoned open shed, leaving them without food or water. He then took the train, it is said, for Superior. The horses were found four days later. One horse had to be killed.

An Army Of 11,000 Men For Wisconsin

THE elaborate plans that have been made for a big army in Wisconsin are beginning to sift out to the people of the state.

Wisconsin, a state that has spoken overwhelmingly against militarism, was to have a national guard of 9,079 men by June 30, 1923, and an ultimate strength of 11,000.

And, strange to say, a state board of public affairs, CONTROLLED BY PROGRESSIVES, has recommended an appropriation by the legislature of $1,200,000 for the years 1923-4 and 1924-5 to make this big army possible.

A LETTER that was written to Gov. Percival M. Baxter of Maine by Adj. Gen. Holway under date of Feb. 3, 1923, outlines the plans that had been made for the enlargement of the Wisconsin National guard. In his letter to Gov. Baxter, Gen. Holway said:

The number of officers and enlisted men, Wisconsin National Guard, by latest strength return, is 7,095. The ultimate requirement under the National Defense act is that this force shall be increased to a minimum of not less than 10,400 men and approximately 500 officers.

The allotment of National Guard troops accepted by Wisconsin and authorized by the War department for organization by June 30, 1923 is 9,079.

There is appropriated annually to the Wisconsin National Guard from state funds $900,000, and such additional sums, not to exceed $300,000, in each year, as may be necessary, upon approval of the governor to maintain and train the full number of National Guard troops required by United States statutes to be maintained and trained by the state of Wisconsin.

No change is contemplated affecting the existing appropriations.

As late as Feb. 3, it was planned by the adjutant general and the state board of public affairs to use $600,000 a year of the Wisconsin taxpayers' money to maintain an army of 11,000 men in this state.

In another part of his letter, Gen. Holway said:

"The ultimate requirements of the National Defense act are accepted by Wisconsin as well within reasonable limit."

The ultimate requirements are for 11,000 men in 1925.

IN THE year 1915, there were 3,084 men in the Wisconsin National guard. The cost to the state for that year was $224,102.73.

Now we propose to have a national guard in this state of 11,000 men with an appropriation of $600,000 in addition to $850,000 which will be received from the federal government.

The Capital Times is printing this information because we hope that it will "soak in" with the people of Wisconsin. The big interests newspapers of the state are trying to discredit the assembly for voting to abolish the national guard. Perhaps when the people awaken to the plans that are being made by the militarists of the country for a huge peace time army in this country they will not think that the action of the assembly was so erratic.

The Facts About One More Concern

THE Wisconsin Rapids Tribune, a paper mill newspaper, busy trying to create the current propaganda of "radicalism" against progressives, carries a front page streamer announcing that the Willow Grass Rug Co. of Green Bay will move out of the state because of hostile tax legislation.

Whereupon a Wisconsin Rapids man who is an authority on the willow grass business in Wisconsin writes to us and says the humbug.

"It might interest you to know that this story that the queen bee is to survive the cold winter Bay concern knew Prof. Fluke. 'She passes wild wind up their ter in a mouse hole or some sheltered place. When the matter is comes she makes a nest and Wisconsin has laying a few eggs, she sets on like a hen.'"

Prof. Fluke discussed the profit in the eggs being made to come to Wisconsin and commercialize the humbug. 'These have not been very success. The humbug will not live on ground like the honey bee.'

On Feb. 27, 1903, Mr. Kearney appeared before the senate committee on privileges and elections against the primary law. Mr. Kearney declared the bill was "radicalism".

On April 14, 1903, he appeared before the joint committee on railroads against the proposal to create a railroad rate commission. He called such a proposal "radicalism".

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Says Capital Is First

What Can Labor Do Without The Man, Who Furnishes The Capital, Is Lake Geneva Query.

"To The Editor"—I would like to answer D. W. Martin's article in your issue of March 1st. On "Thank you, Ben Halvorsen."

To begin with, I do not believe in war. I think the world is old enough and should be civilized enough to get along without wars. But I think there will always be fights between individuals and fights against nations just as long as the human race exists, and when the last man is left alone, he will be shadow boxing.

Therefore, as long as one or two nations are prepared for war others must be, although we have never been prepared for any of the wars we have been forced into. There is a question in my mind if it would not have been cheaper to have been ready than to have paid the price for preparedness that we did.

Now in regard to what Mr. Martin says about the guard, that they mean trouble. I am not against labor nor labor unions; I think they should organize and bargain collectively for higher wages, and have the right to strike and use moral suasion to keep others from taking their places. But I maintain they have no constitutional right to slug, kill, destroy property, or otherwise intimidate fellow citizens that are willing to work for the wages they are not. But a union man told me when I said that: "That no strike could win without force." But I maintain that one man's liberty extends to where the other man's liberty begins. And the statement that the force that the strikers use is committed by irresponsible members of the union or by the employers to create sympathy, falls flat. One other reason I have never heard of a union expelling a member for any crime he may have committed during a strike, or even helping the authorities bring any one to justice accused of such crimes. But I have heard of the unions defraying the expense of a trial and employing the best legal talent to defend persons so accused. Now I would like to have Mr. Martin name one time when the guard was called before every peaceable means had been used to maintain the law, protect the property from the overt acts, threats and actual deeds of violence by strikers or their irresponsible sympathizers, that had created a situation that the local police could not cope with.

The Heron massacre is still fresh in our memory and shows what happens when the lawless element is in the saddle.

Mr. Martin does not seem to realize that the guard is protecting him and his chance of a livelihood when it is saving property from destruction where he is earning his bread. Mr. Martin knows that when the lawless are in the lead that the unions can not or will not control them, and they tear, bomb and burn. Mr. Martin says they are strikebreakers. Does he mean that if the guards had not interfered that the strikers, by acts and threats of violence and intimidation, would have brought their employers to their terms? When that kind of law prevails the days of a free republic are gone.

He also states that the prosperity of the state and nation depend on the wages of the masses, which is true. But if capital cannot make a profit off the labor, where is the wage earner going to get off at. For no capitalist is fool enough to invest his cash where the danger of mob rule may at any time wipe it out of existence. He might better invest it in non-taxable bonds. For after all, if we look things in a straightforward way we must admit we must have capital first. A man's credit, fertile land, or anything that can be used for barter or exchange is capital. Supposing any labor union wanted to build a building, but they had no capital or credit, they could not produce the first brick. But here is the trouble with most of our leaders in both labor and capital, they try to array one class against the other, they say just what their listeners want to hear, and it is mostly for political purposes, to get some office. If they would tell the truth and that is: That capital needs labor, labor that is interested in its labor, labor that wants to see their employer prosper, knowing that if he is prosperous they will be prosperous. And labor needs capital. Capital that expands and grows, and creates opportunities for the betterment of labor. And labor can never get the opportunities if labor and capital are always kept at swords' points by the narrow-mindedness of a few grasping politicians who cater to the labor vote by restricting and hampering capital by passing aggravating laws. They are injuring labor more than they are capital. But if they would use their influence and instruct the laborers that they need each other, that labor and capital must get together before we have real prosperity, this is a big country and we must have big business to expand and develop.

But Mr. Martin and the rest of us laborers must bear in mind that the employer must get the money first before the wage-earning masses can spend it and bring prosperity to the state and nation.—G. B. Stannard, Lake Geneva, Wis.

WHERE WERE LAW AND ORDER?

[To The Editor]—Much is being said these days both in and out of the statehouse by friends of the national guard about how necessary it is to maintain the guard in order that we may have law and order, etc.

THE YOUTH BEHIND
Someone will take your place when you are gone,
Will come as you to face the morning mail,
Hear the small talk and bear the burden on,
And in his care the venture will not fail.

You may be brave and wise and quick and strong,
You may command with courage and with grace,
But one shall come, when you have passed along,
And serve with equal splendor in your place.

And he may see what you have never seen,
May find new ways your feet have never tread,
And he may go where you have never been,
For, after all, the greatest of us plod.

In all the throng you may not see his face;
Secure you seem, and all your prospect fair,
But one there is who waits to take your place—
Against your passing, Life has placed him there.

Volstead Judge?

Reports That He May Be Appointed To Bench In Minnesota By Harding.

The rumor is going the rounds in Washington that ex-Representative Andrew J. Volstead of Minnesota, author of the prohibition enforcement law, is being considered as a possible appointee to a federal judgeship. A new judgeship has recently been created in the Minnesota district and filled by appointment of J. F. McGee of Minneapolis. There seems to be vigorous opposition to the appointment of McGee on the part of the Scandinavian voters, who it is believed, would look with favor on Volstead, a Norwegian.

Volstead was born in Minnesota in 1860. He was educated at St. Olaf's college and Decorah Institute. He was admitted to the bar in 1883 and has since practiced at Granite Falls, Minn. He started his public life as president of the board of education. He then became city attorney and later mayor. He was then county attorney for 11 years and in 1903 was sent by the republicans to congress for the first time. He was re-elected every year until last fall.

It is said that he recently turned down a lecture platform offer involving a high rate of pay, because there have been many encouraging suggestions concerning his appointment to the judgeship.

body of approximately one hundred men who styled themselves as night riders or Ku Klux Klan and raided through my home county at the dead hours of night, breaking into farmers' homes, taking young women in their night clothes and driving them long distances from home? Where were these brave men when my neighbor John Deml was assaulted in his back yard on Oct. 12, 1918 and a rope put around his neck because he failed to take a certain allotment for Liberty bonds? Has anyone heard any protest from these gentlemen against the outrageous conduct of these so-called patriotic men that sent Merrill Black to the insane asylum for life?

When Ex-assemblyman Mark Catlin was district attorney of Outagamie county and was supposed to be the chief law enforcer, he was asked for a warrant by John Deml, but he refused to issue one. When I as chairman of the town demanded a warrant under the law for unlawful assemblage and attempted riot, he treated it with contempt, and was the star witness for the defendants in the lawsuit. I was denounced at this trial by P. H. Martin, the leading counsel for the defendants, in his plea to the jury as a grafter, a boodler and a scoundrel for interfering and stopping this damnable business.

Were these fighting men on the job when Mrs. Shaw, 70 years old, was put in a lion's cage and dragged around the streets of Evansville, only a few miles from the capitol, on Armistice Day? Were they home under the bed? In the joint resolution which I introduced in the assembly for an investigation of this disgraceful affair, did these law and order advocates offer any assistance? Not that anyone knows of. I stated at that time that we had laws to protect fish, rabbits and even skunks, but apparently none to protect old women.

While my boy was in the 32nd Division fighting to make the world safe for democracy, these flagwavers were making it unsafe for my neighbors to live, in their own homes.

In closing I wish to inquire why we have all these army posts in Wisconsin? I have personally seen thirty-two artillery horses in one barn in the small city of Antigo, forty in Chippewa Falls, the same in Kenosha, Racine, and I understand a large number at Camp Randall. At Appleton we have mules and machine guns to preserve the peace and dignity of the state. The amount of money necessary to feed and care for these horses and army posts must be enormous, and what are they for?—C. B. Ballard.

What We May See This Summer

Echoes of Old Madison

The Madison Institute
By EARLY MADISONIAN

The literary association known as the Madison Institute was incorporated in the summer of 1853. Its charter stated that it was "for the purpose of establishing and sustaining at Madison a reading room and library and providing for and instituting literary and scientific lectures and other means of mental and moral improvement."

The following April its organizers arranged for a modest home on the third floor of Bruen's Block, assembled one hundred volumes and many of the current periodicals of the day, engaged lecturers for the approaching winter, and thus insured a center for the literary life of Madison.

Intelligent and public spirited, the interested citizens, as well as the officers and life members of the association, spared no effort for the welfare of their fine undertaking. Even in the earliest days of the village, reading was esteemed almost a religious ceremony, as well as a deep pleasure. So it is not surprising that for nearly 20 years contributions of books were often made and that such men as Horace Greeley, John G. Saxe, Parke Godwin and other fine speakers found eager and appreciative audience, and that the council gave a room in the city hall to take the place of the old abode outgrown.

Records and memory recount that in 1872 the legislature of Wisconsin passed an act authorizing the establishment of free public libraries and reading rooms in cities and villages of the state. Following this specifically, our council took action which resulted in the opening of the Madison public library, the first in Wisconsin.

Circumstances delayed action on the part of the directors appointed by the mayor. So it was not until 1875 that they held their first meeting. J. C. Ford was elected president and the state university's true scholar, Prof. W. F. Allen, became secretary.

Wisely the Madison Institute saw its opportunity, and generously arose to its fulfillment by contributing its collection of 3500 books for the nucleus of the new library which, steadily advancing in its endeavor to serve its purpose, has proved itself a worthy recipient of the gift.

"Guide, counselor, friend" of the early fifties, the names of those who made it possible that the knowledge-seeker should learn, the weary be refreshed, and the sorrowful cheered by your existence, still stand on the time-worn pages of your history, still live in the hearts of the men and women whose childhood days knew yours!

For them and for you, "rosemary, that's for remembrance."

From the past you ask our appreciation of your successor's work—especially that done for the children—even as you whisper that some day the little ones must have more space, that even the Carnegie structure is not large enough for their requirements.

In the future it may be that the children's room will have a new name, and thus become the Children's Building.

What a memorial for a citizen to offer!

"Honest Sol"

Article In Kenosha News Tells Of Visit To The State Treasurer's Office.

[From Kenosha News]

A short visit Tuesday afternoon with Treasurer Levitan, revealed some interesting facts relating to his office. Honest Sol is determined to save the state every penny possible.

Formerly the blank checks came bound in book form with stubs. There has never been any use for either stubs or binding, so careful Sol proposes to have the checks come blocked and save expense. In placing the funds of the state in depositories, the first distribution has gone to small banks in the northern portion of Wisconsin. The reason for this, the treasurer explained, is to aid the farmers in securing loans to meet taxes and other pressing needs. A gentleman who was present, jokingly inquired, "How much of the state money is in your bank, Sol?" Mr. Levitan insisted on calling Mr. Pugh of his office and said, "Upon your oath, what part of the funds are in my bank?" Pugh answered, "Not one penny." Again we say, Taxpayers can trust Sol Levitan. By the way, when a state official starts out saving money for the state, it is a hopeful sign. It strikes us that there is room for a good many "Honest Sols" around the capitol building, and perhaps our new state treasurer, by sowing seeds of economy, may yet reap a real harvest for the Badger state.

OUR DAILY TICKLER

F. G. Oetting, proprietor of the Capital Times, submits this laugh getter:

The regular minister of an Alabama congregation was taken sick, and so the following Sunday morning a new preacher appeared in the pulpit.

After the sermon was over the new preacher handed over his hat to be passed among the congregation. The hat was passed from hand to hand, but the jingling of coins was conspicuous by its absence.

Finally the hat came back to the preacher. He stared at the empty headpiece some time, and then, raising his eyes to heaven, he said fervently:

"I thank de Loahd dat I got mah hat, but fum dis congregation."

Our state legislature changes its mind more than an ex-convict changes his name.

One day the legislators are all ayes, the next day they are all nays and the third day they are all noes. A very strange state of affairs, or rather, affairs of state.

Lobbyists are packed thicker in the capitol than taxis in front of the Chicago Grand.

Every body is brought up today to the lobbyists for consideration, and then it is voted on. But vote? These same lobbyists could persuade the French to pay the Germans ransom.

And they pull more wires than the marionettes of Tony Sarg's marionettes. The lobbyists of some men is "lobby." We wonder if the capitol should give them so much consideration by having so many columns.

Frankly, we never suspected our government of having such an exaggerated sense of humor.
